

RUEF TRIES TO GAIN FREEDOM

CENTERVILLE FOOTHILLS SCENE OF CRIME

Deputy Sheriff Is Found Dead With His Throat Cut; Murderer Is Still to Be Caught.

A murder, which, for ghastliness of conception and detail in execution would defy anything short of the powerful conception of Edgar Allan Poe's "Murders in the Rue Morgue," occurred in the foothills five miles from the peaceful hamlet of Centerville in Alameda county, early this morning, when Deputy Sheriff Joe Price was brutally murdered by an outlaw named Richardson.

After committing the ghastly crime, the outlaw made his escape and is now thought to be hiding in the foothills near the scene of his crime.

POSSIBLE ON TRAIL.
Sheriff Chittenden and a posse of picked men, armed to the teeth, are beating the bush for a clue to the whereabouts of the escaped outlaw. Every effort is being made towards the apprehension of the criminal and his capture is hourly expected.

Excitement in Centerville and the surrounding territory is at a high pitch and the populace is aroused to such an extent that the officials fear violence will be done the outlaw in the event of his capture.

Deputy Sheriff Price had Richardson under arrest last night and was conveying him to the Centerville jail this morning when the murder occurred.

Price arrested Richardson on a charge of horse stealing. When the outlaw saw that he was apprehended he showed fight. Drawing a revolver of large caliber he fired on Price, and he surrendered only after a desperate battle.

START FOR CENTERVILLE.
As soon as Price placed Richardson under arrest he took the revolver from the outlaw and placed him in a buggy and started out for Centerville.

Mr. Davis, the owner of the horse and buggy which Richardson had stolen, followed the deputy sheriff and his prisoner at a short distance.

When an opportune moment presented itself, the outlaw drew a large knife.

RIOTING MOB IN LOUISVILLE ATTACKS POLICE

Street Railway Strike Is Cause of Bloodshed,
Hundreds of People
Engaging in Battles.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 14.—The most serious rioting since the street railway strike began occurred at 11 o'clock at Fourteenth and Chestnut streets. Five cars were broken to pieces with stones. Several persons were badly injured. The mob numbered 1000.

When the riot reached its height and the police saw that they would be unable to cope with it, they began firing over the heads of the crowd, but this only increased the fury of the mob. The mob set fire to the street cars and an attack upon the police. Police Corporal Whitman was hit in the head with a rock and badly hurt.

The attack came as a result of the gates at a railroad crossing being down to allow a train to pass.

STRIKE-BREAKERS BEATEN.
When the gates were raised a motor-car was turned on the current and jumped off the car. A delivery wagon was struck by the car. The horses and wagon were demolished and the car was left crosswise upon the track.

The strike-breakers jumped off and were chased by the mob. A number of the strike-breakers were badly beaten. The fleeing men ran through the yards of private residences and many escaped. Police reserves were hurried to the scene. They charged the crowd repeatedly.

Parley, the strike-breaker, is in the city. Twelve policemen in addition to Cap-

GIRL SAVES LIFE OF WOMAN ADRIFT IN BOAT

ALAMEDA, March 14.—May Fiddock risked her life Tuesday evening to rescue an unknown woman from the waters of the estuary. The girl, who is but twelve years old, was rowing in the harbor when she saw a woman waving her hands from another boat.

The girl pulled her boat toward the woman. When she arrived the other boat was badly leaking and about to sink.

The woman got into the young girl's boat and was taken ashore only a moment or two before the other boat disappeared under the water.

JAPANESE GIRLS SEEK ADMISSION TO SCHOOLS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—In accordance with the action of the Board of Education yesterday rescinding the resolution which barred Japanese pupils from the schools, nine little Japanese girls applied this morning for admission to the Redding primary school.

Miss Mary Deane, the principal, answered their request with the statement that she had not received formal notification of the board's action and directed them to return at 1 o'clock, at which hour they will doubtless be admitted. All of the children speak English remarkably well.

In the United States Circuit court United States Attorney Devlin had a formal order of dismissal of the Japanese cases entered. Similar action was taken in the State Supreme court.

This afternoon the nine Japanese girls who applied for admission into the Redding primary school were admitted, after an examination as to their knowledge of the English language.

ALAMEDA GIRL MISSING; PARENTS NOTIFY POLICE

ALAMEDA, March 14.—P. Robert reported to the police this morning that his sixteen-year-old daughter Alice ran away from the family residence, 2111 San Antonio avenue, last night and that he is greatly worried over her whereabouts.

The girl left home stating to her parents that she was going to the theater. She did not come home during the night and this morning the father reported her disappearance.

He stated to the officer at the police station that the girl was in the habit of leaving home every little while and that when he objected she would find some way to evade him when leaving the house.

The police are making a search for the young girl.

SOCIETY WOMAN ACCUSES HUSBAND OF EMBEZZLEMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—Cornelia, a prominent society belle of Buffalo, N. Y., entered a complaint against her husband, James Ellison, with embezzlement of nearly $1000 worth of diamonds and jewelry. While she was on her way to the office of the Warrant and Bond Clerk to swear to the complaint, she learned through friends that her husband was preparing to depart for the East tonight, where he intends to dispose of her jewelry, she alleges, and every effort is being made by the police to apprehend the man before he gets away.

During a sick spell a couple of weeks ago, Mrs. Ellison entrusted her costly jewels to her husband, who then deserted her. After several threatening letters to his wife, Ellison informed friends of his intention to leave for the East tonight and they informed his wife, who arose from a sick bed to recover her jewelry and have her husband arrested.

The pair have been residing at 776 McAllister street for several months, having come here from New York, where the wife is said to be well connected.

QUEER AIRSHIP IS SEEN BY SAN JOSE PEOPLE

SAN JOSE, March 14.—"Are you going to the watching bee?" is the question passed about the streets here today. The whole population of the Garden City is out to catch the airship. What airship? No one knows and the City Council is thinking seriously, even ponderously, of closing the saloons.

Here is a hypothetical question: Suppose you were walking down Santa Clara avenue and happened to gaze into the empyrean, suppose a long, low rakish-looking craft passed hurtling through the atmosphere, suppose it was cigar-shaped and colored like the darkest of Havana ropes, suppose it had lights at each end and in the center a red light like a sinister and fiery morning-after eye, and suppose that this terrifying sight had been thrust upon you on three different occasions? Could you, as an expert, decide from facts that the percentage of denatured alcohol in malt beverages was?

ALL RAILROADS MENAGED BY A GENERAL STRIKE

Nearly 50,000 Employees
West of Denver Are Voting on the Question;
Oakland Is Effected.

Nearly 50,000 men, constituting the membership of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, west of Denver, are at the present time voting on the proposition of an increase in their wages and better hours.

The poll is being taken for the purpose of gaining the sentiment of the members of the organization, so that their decision can be referred to the conference now being held in Chicago between their representatives and those of their employers.

It is thought that the result of the vote will reach the National headquarters at Cleveland, Ohio, about March 25.

A conductor on one of the local lines of the Southern Pacific stated today that the members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen are casting their ballots, but he believes that no trouble will ensue. He asserted that the votes were merely to gain an expression of opinion from the Union so that the Chicago conference can act upon the matter.

The Order of Railway Conductors is also voting upon the question of an increase in wages and better hours.

YEARLY CONFERENCES.
Each year representatives of the trainmen and of the railroad company hold a conference to adjust schedules and wages. This year it was held in Chicago and settlement of the demand for better wages and hours was not reached. For this reason the trainmen decided to take a vote among their members on the proposition involved.

Assistant Superintendent Baker of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company said this morning, when interviewed: "I have heard nothing concerning a vote being taken by the trainmen upon the question of better hours and wages. Everything seems to be harmonious between the men and the company on the western division and I feel assured that there will be no strike."

The switchmen are affiliated, as indicated, with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

PITTSBURG IN THROES OF A GREAT FLOOD

Lives Are Lost and Much Damage Is Done as Result of Rise in the State's River Waters.

PITTSBURG, March 14.—With business paralyzed, all the large industrial plants along the rivers closed, traffic between Pittsburgh and Allegheny and on all the local railroads almost at a standstill, and with nearly 100,000 men temporarily idle, Pittsburgh is suffering today from the worst flood in her history.

At 2 o'clock a stage of 33.3 feet was registered, with the expectation that 34 feet will be reached late this afternoon. This will be the highest in 75 years.

Fourteen deaths have been reported as a result, and already the loss from the closing of mills and manufacturing plants and damage to property is estimated at over a million dollars.

The flood reached Penn avenue and Sixth street in this city, and all the Point District was inundated. The lowlands of Allegheny and the south side were submerged. The residents of lower Allegheny were caught unaware. The greatest excitement prevailed and scores of people were taken from their homes in skiffs. Street cars

ANOTHER APPLICATION TO THE SUPREME COURT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—At noon today Abe Ruef filed a second application for a writ of habeas corpus in the State Supreme Court. The Supreme Justices met in banc this morning, but no action was taken up to noon on Ruef's first application. At 2:30 this afternoon the court convened again, but as yet no decision has been handed down on either writ.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—No decision has come as yet from the State Supreme Court on the application of Abraham Ruef for a writ of habeas corpus to effect his release on bail from the custody of Elisor Biggy. The justices took up the application this morning, the entire court being in session, and it is believed that a decision will be announced before the day is over.

A new application for the release of Ruef by habeas corpus was made in the State Supreme Court shortly before noon when Attorneys Ach and Shortridge filed an affidavit alleging that Ruef is illegally restrained of his liberty by Elisor Biggy. The application differs from that filed several days ago, in that the latter was based on the allegation that the indictment against Ruef is illegal.

Ruef's attorneys made another effort to free their client from the custody of Elisor Biggy by filing another application for a writ of habeas corpus on the grounds that Ruef is being illegally and irregularly restrained of his liberty.

The application which was filed yesterday was being acted upon by the justices of the Supreme Court of the State when the second application was sent to them shortly before noon.

At the noon hour they left without having decided upon either of the applications.

The application was filed yesterday upon the grounds that the indictment against Ruef was illegal.

Detective Burns this morning stated that Ruef would be compelled to give up the quarters he has been occupying at the St. Francis for less luxurious and spacious apartments in the immediate vicinity of Temple Israel, where the trial is being conducted.

Although the grand jury retired yesterday with the understanding that the jurors were to come together at 2 o'clock this afternoon it was decided by Assistant District Attorney Heney and Detective Burns that the meeting would be postponed indefinitely.

RIOTING MOBS IN LOUISVILLE

Street Railway Strike Is the Cause of Much Bloodshed.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 14.—The fifth day of the street railway strike showed some betterment over yesterday's milder service, about forty cars being run this morning. All were manned by imported strike-breakers. The cars were screened with heavy wire netting to prevent motormen and conductors from being struck by the missiles of the strikers. Automobiles and wagons continued to carry most of the passengers. The police, with an added force of one hundred extra men, appear to have the situation well in hand. The mounted police have been brought in from the suburban districts and are being used to accompany some of the cars through districts which have been scenes of disorder. Police Captain Riley was today ordered to put six of his men on a car leaving the East Broadway depot, but refused, telling Chief Gunther over the telephone that the strike-breakers aboard the car were thieves and thugs and all armed. He was thereupon suspended and his men assigned to other districts. There were numerous arrests in the business district.

ALEX. McADAM WAS SURPRISED

Could Not Believe City Attorney McElroy Joined the Opposition.

Editor TRIBUNE—I desire through the columns of your paper to thank the many voters of the First Ward who stood by me so loyally during the recent election. Although defeated, I can truthfully say that my friends stood by me as staunchly as any man could desire.

The reason of my defeat is not hard to find. A letter mailed to the voters over the signature of Mayor Mott, City Engineer Turner and City Attorney McElroy accomplished my downfall. While I am not surprised that Mayor Mott and Turner opposed me, I was shocked and surprised to find that City Attorney McElroy would over his own signature oppose the man who made it possible this election and at other elections for him to occupy the position he does. I had made McElroy's fight, and when my friends came to me and asked "How is it that McElroy is fighting you?" I could not give a reply. I was dumbfounded. It was his letter that hurt the worst. I believe that I was deserving re-election for the number of improvements I secured during the last two years for the ward, and up to the time the members of the Board of Works attacked me, I believe the majority of the voters of the ward wished me returned. The large support accorded me after the attack of the administration, however, compensates me, and I wish again to thank those who stood by me in the face of strong opposition.

SUPPLYING SAN FRANCISCO FROM OAKLAND

The Kiehl & Evans Co., which now occupy a new four-story building sheathed with ornamental galvanized iron, at the corner of Fourth and Franklin streets, Oakland, Cal., are prepared to see 1907 be the greatest business year in the history of the city. The 1906 trade was large, and the demand is still growing, although the winter is still on. While nearly all firms in the vehicle and implement trade are struggling for the inability to secure stock enough from the East, owing to the factories being rushed with work, the Kiehl & Evans Co. have their floors crowded with the largest stock of up-to-date vehicles the firm have ever carried. The reason that the company have ample stocks of 1907 models promptly on hand, notwithstanding the congestion in the East, is because they have special facilities in connection with certain factories. For instance, the Kiehl & Evans Co. take the entire output of Winkler Bros., South Bend, Ind., including all spring wagons and trucks. Joe Moon of St. Louis, manufactures all of the company's business buggies and special work. The new 1907 San Francisco type business buggy has made a great hit, and orders are coming rapidly. It was especially designed to meet the severe requirements in San Francisco since the fire. The damaged condition of the streets, etc., made it important to have a vehicle of great strength. This has been combined with a graceful appearance by the manufacturer. The buggy has 14-inch rubber tires and 14-inch axles, and retails at the low price of $150. The company also have the agency for the Luninghous line of lumber wagons and sand wagons, manufactured in St. Louis, for which the unseemingly unlimited demand continues on account of the immense quantities of materials being required for rebuilding San Francisco. The only stock of "Cut-Down" wagons for the San Francisco and Oakland markets is carried by that company. They are of Winkler manufacture. The wholesale agency for the "Richman" buggy line of Kalamazoo, is carried also. A well-selected stock of new model surreys, etc., is carried, the Brockway line manufactured in Homer, N. Y., and that of Hasset & Hooge, Amesbury, Mass., being well represented. The spring demand has already opened up well in these high-grade vehicles, although last year the emergency conditions following the San Francisco fire restricted the demand largely to heavy vehicles, in which style was predominant. The strength and durability, very complete line of harness is carried, including heavy truck harness and various specialties. The Vehicle Dealer, Philadelphia, February, 1907.

GIRL AIDS BURGLAR

DORA A. RICH, aged five years, the unsuspecting aid of a hold burglar.

USES LITTLE CHILD AS MEANS OF ENTERING THIS RESIDENCE.

"Little girl, will you go through the window and unlock the back door for me?" This was the query put to pretty Dora Rich, seven years of age by a daring burglar, who last evening entered and ransacked the home of Mrs. C. T. Young, 910 Myrtle street. "Why, of course, I will," replied the young innocent, her face lighting up with delight at the thought of being able to help a grown person. The suave housebreaker then raised the child in his arms, thrust her through the window and watched her firm disappear in the direction of the back door. He was there to meet her. When the door was thrown open by the child he entered. He thanked his accomplice, patted her on the head and told her to run away and play. She complied with his request and joined her chum, Gertrude Norton, who is of the same age. Dora related her experience of being put through the window and unlocking the door. Suddenly she exclaimed: "Why, I do not think he lives at Mrs. Young's house." This set the two little girls to talking. They turned detectives for the moment and analyzed the situation. With more than ordinary precocity the two children came to the conclusion that the strange man might be a burglar. When this deduction was reached, both youngsters started for their respective homes to give the alarm. It is probable that the thief inside the house watched the two little girls and became alarmed at their hasty actions. At least when an investigating party arrived, he was gone. A part of the house had been ransacked but the search was evidently incomplete. Miss Dora, who played the part of Little Red Ridinghood to the burglar's part as the wolf, gave a fair description of the burglar who had deceived her into becoming his accomplice, but it was not sufficient for purposes of identification. It is thought that the operator in all probability is the same individual who is operating through the city at the present time, choosing the hour between 9 o'clock and 8 o'clock in the evening to do his work. At this time the family is either dining or is leaving for an evening's entertainment. In either case the burglar figures that he runs little chance of being molested.

ANNEXATION WILL WIN AT THE POLLS TODAY

Mayor Mott Says That From Reports He Has Received It Looks Like Success.

Much interest, particularly in Fruitvale, was manifested today in the annexation election. From the prevailing opinion in both communities it is thought that the proposition to merge the two municipalities will carry. Mayor Mott said this morning: "From the reports that I have received it would seem that the proposition of annexation has carried. 'There is much interest in Fruit-

Relatives of "Hair Singe" to be Tried on Serious Charge.

The alleged robbery occurred in a lodging house in Emeryville. WHEELING, W. Va., March 14.—The town of Majorsville, Marshall county, a community of 60 houses, was entirely swept away by the waters of Big Wheeling Creek. The people fled to higher ground. Viola, another town, was partly destroyed. DIED. STOWE.—At rest, in San Francisco, Mabel E. Stowe, of Brattleboro, Vt., recently of Mills College. *Funeral services will be held tomorrow (Friday), March 15, 1907, at 2:30 p. m., at the Crematory chapel of Odd Fellows' cemetery, San Francisco. All friends and acquaintances are invited to attend.

PRESIDENT IS STILL AFTER THE RAILROADS

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Official denial was given at the White House today to intimations that the President had requested the Governors of the States before whose Legislatures railroad legislation is pending to come to Washington for consultation on that question.

Governor Deneen and Attorney General Stead of Illinois are coming to Washington at the request of the President, and while it is stated the visit has to do with another matter entirely, it is believed that questions affecting railroads may come up for consideration. The impression prevails that the testimony of E. H. Harriman in the hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission in New York regarding the Alton transaction may be brought to the attention of the President by Governor Deneen, as it is known that the President is anxious for information regarding any contemplated action by the Illinois officials in the matter.

No time has yet been fixed for the conference of the four railroad Presidents named by Mr. Morgan upon the occasion of his visit to Washington Monday night last. A. B. Stickney, President of the Chicago Great Western Railway, was at the White House today to talk with the President about railroad affairs.

DENEEN INVITED. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 14.—Governor Deneen, accompanied by Attorney General Stead, left for Washington today, the Governor having received a letter from President Roosevelt yesterday requesting him and Dr. Stead to come to Washington to "discuss certain matters."

Governor Deneen refused to speak with regard to the subject of the conference, but it is taken for granted among the legislators that railroad legislation will be discussed.

vigils, with the Brotherhood of Railway trainmen. Although they are unions of their own. They are also voting on the question of better hours and wages and their attitude toward the proposition is considered to be important. Although the trainmen have not organized the union, they have asked them to vote on the question involved as individuals. For some time the switchmen have been endeavoring to gain recognition for their union and this is one of the "grievances."

SWITCHMEN'S UNION. W. H. Barr, master of Switchmen's Union No. 158, said in regard to the vote that is being taken: "My opinion is that a strike will not be called without the co-operation of the switchmen. The Brotherhood has asked us to vote as individuals. The switchmen want to be recognized as a distinct branch of the union, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. They object to having their schedules made by men from other branches, who have no adequate conception of the switchmen's needs."

Barr said that the real working railroad men were in favor of a physical examination as required by the Southern Railway Company. "Following the first year," he explained, "when the company needed men badly, an order was given without General Manager Calvin's approval doing away with the physical examination. As a result many men afflicted with serious diseases obtained work and gained entrance to the industry. It would be glad to have stricter requirements enforced as to the physical condition of the men. It would be a protection as much to the switchmen, yard and shop men as to the company."

DEPUTY SHERIFF IS MURDERED

Crime Is Committed in the Foot-hills Near Centerville, This County.

which he had concealed on his person, he slashed his throat from ear to ear. This morning a farmer drove into Centerville and reported the finding of the horribly mangled body of the deputy sheriff lying in the rig with which Price had intended to convey his prisoner to the Centerville jail. The deputy's throat was cut and his clothing and the rig in which he was driving were seeped in his blood. The outlaw left absolutely no clew as to the direction in which he made his escape.

NUMEROUS CRIMES. A series of depredations have been committed in the neighborhood where the murder was committed, and the blame for these crimes are now being placed on Richardson.

That the outlaw is still in hiding in the foothills is the belief of the sheriff and his posse. Sheriff Chittenden has deputed the members of his posse to search the brush in different directions and his force is being augmented hourly by the arrival of armed citizens eagerly bent on the capture of Richardson.

Farmer near the scene of the murder report the appearance of a strange man answering the description of Richardson lurking about in the brush skirting the foothills of Centerville. The entire community around Centerville is taking part in the man-hunt and it is thought that the escape of the latter is impossible.

STILL HAS KNIFE. Richardson is still armed with the knife with which he committed the murder, and as he is known to the rougher element it is feared that he has secured additional arms and ammunition and will in the event of his apprehension offer desperate resistance.

Deputy Sheriff Brice was popular around Centerville, and the more hot-headed of his friends swear vengeance on his murderer. Sheriff Chittenden has counseled against

STOCK MARKET OPENS IN TURMOIL OF EXCITEMENT

Action of Brokers Indicate Continuance of Forced Liquidation--Unload at Rapid Declines.

NEW YORK, March 14.—The stock market opened in a turmoil of excitement again today and after making a momentary stand against weakness, broke again quite generally. Individual stocks were unloaded at rapid declines, indicating the continuance of forced liquidation. The struggle between opposing forces at the opening was stimulated by the news from London, where a sharp rebound occurred after a period of excitement and the announcement of two failures.

The supposition that the worst was thus disclosed at the center prompted some aggressive support at the opening here and a number of leading speculative stocks started one or two points higher than last night. Fluctuations were very feverish and violent for a time and the trend of the market was not clearly perceptible until Union Pacific made a downward plunge of 3 1/2 below yesterday's closing. Amalgamated fell weakly 3/4, Great Northern preferred 3/4, Sugar 3, Northern Pacific 3 1/2, and many active stocks 1 to 2 points.

The renewed slump in the market naturally gave rise to further uneasiness over the consequences of the continued selling away of prices. On the other hand, it was a matter of satisfaction that the Bank of England had refrained from advancing its discount rate in spite of the continued fall in the sterling exchange rate at New York. Advice from the interior also showed large withdrawals of money from New York to meet local demands there. It was reported also that other banks were

PITTSBURG IN GRASP OF FLOOD

Lives Are Lost and Much Damage Is Done Throughout the State.

between Pittsburgh and Allegheny were forced to stop running.

PITTSBURG, March 14.—Pittsburg is in the throes of one of its greatest floods. The record of ten years has already been passed and the rivers are still rising.

If the rise continues at the present rate the record of 1884, when the water reached the highest stage since 1835, will have been passed before night fall. The stage in 1884 was thirty-three feet four inches.

Today at 10 o'clock the marks registered thirty-two feet with the water creeping up at the rate of six inches an hour and still rising at all head-water points.

Every tributary along the upper river is swollen and discharges from all sections of Western Pennsylvania report the smaller streams beyond their banks and the surrounding districts submerged.

Weather bureau officials predict thirty-four feet or over at Pittsburgh. If this stage is reached the flood will not only be the greatest in seventy-five years but the most disastrous in the history of the city.

Warm, heavy rains throughout the entire section for nearly two days added to by the melting snow from the hills and mountains caused all the streams to rise with alarming rapidity. Until an early hour, today, however, a flood of unusual proportions was not expected and the rushing waters caught the people unprepared.

DAMAGE INCREASES. As a result of this the damage will be much heavier. It was estimated early today that the loss from the closing down of manufacturing plants alone would exceed half a million dollars and the damage to property from high water would be as much more.

Nine deaths are attributed to the floods so far. These include the three trainmen who lost their lives by the collapse of the Harpersville bridge yesterday and two men drowned last night when the towboat Cruiser capsized in the Ohio river.

The other fatalities reported are: Lloyd Weyland, aged thirty, William Beers, forty years, drowned in Laurel Hill creek, near Somerset; George Johnston, aged five years, drowned at Millvale.

Annie Shutt, aged seven, drowned in Blue Baker Creek, near Hastings.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, March 14.—Three Hungarians were drowned here as the result of the flood this morning. A score of foreigners were living in a house that was surrounded by the Muskingum river overflow during the night. When they started to wade to land three were caught in the current and swept out into the river. Flood conditions throughout Muskingum county are unprecedented and growing worse hourly. The Muskingum and Licking rivers are out of bounds in this city and more than a hundred homes have been invaded by the water. It is believed that 300 families will be homeless here by tomorrow, the high waters have crossed West Main street to a depth of four feet.

LIMA, Ohio, March 14.—The heavy downpour of rain in this section has raised the Ottawa river beyond its bounds, the small waterway being unable to drain the district upon the crest of the Ohio's water shed. Fifty families were forced to move out of their homes here last night. Pipe lines have been unearthed and oil plants rendered useless by the high waters.

RANSACK A HOUSE; GET TEN DOLLARS

Burglars last night effected an entrance to the home of James G. Gillham, 1886 Eighth street, by prying open the pantry window. The house was ransacked and $10 obtained. $5 was taken from a bureau drawer and $5 from a boy's bank.

Violence, but the present posse directly under him is not considered adequate to resist an attempt at violence should one be made by the friends of the murdered deputy sheriff.

MAY USE HOUNDS. The search for the outlaw will be continued throughout the night, and blood hounds may be used.

MAKES A DASH FOR LIBERTY

Burglar Who Entered Chestnut Street Home Succeeds in Escaping.

Arriving at his home, 2014 Chestnut street, last night at 11:30 o'clock, Herman Andree discovered a burglar at work on the lower floor.

At the same time the intruder saw the owner of the house and made a dash for liberty by way of the rear door. He was successful in his attempt to escape and the members of the family, who were aroused by the sound of running feet through the hallway caught only a glimpse of the would-be thief as he vaulted the rear fence. The attempted burglary has been reported to the police.

DELMAS AND JEROME HAVE ANOTHER LIVELY TILT IN THE TRIAL OF THAW

AFFIDAVIT IS IN QUESTION Statement Said to Have Been Made by Evelyn.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Abraham Hummel, upon the witness stand at the trial of Harry N. Thaw today declared that Evelyn Nesbit told him in 1903 that she had told Thaw in Paris that it was not true that Stanford White had drugged and betrayed her. The answer to a question by District Attorney Jerome was made so quickly that the counsel for the defense had no time to interpose an objection, but Mr. Delmas let the answer stand, saying there was no occasion to strike it out after it had once been given to the jury, adding that he preferred it should remain part of the record.

In addition to Drs. Flint, Mabon and Macdonald, who have been in court every day since the trial began, Mr. Jerome will call Dr. Devendorf of the State Hospital at Middletown, Conn.; Dr. William D. Pritchard of the New York Polyclinic Institute; Dr. William Hirsch of the Cornell Medical School, and Dr. Allan MacLane Hamilton.

Mr. Jerome's hypothetical question for submission to the experts came from the printers today. Harry Thaw himself took a copy of the question, which covered 38 printed pages, and read it through carefully.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Justice Fitzgerald sustained Mr. Delmas' objection to Hummel's testimony.

NEW YORK, March 14.—A crucial point in the trial of Harry N. Thaw today was reached. It revolves about the affidavit which Lawyer Abraham Hummel has in his possession, and which is said to have been dictated by him at the instance of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

The legal fight to admit this testimony began yesterday when District Attorney Jerome made the most impassioned address yet heard at the trial, in which he pleaded eloquently for its admission.

FIGHT STILL ON.
The fight will continue when the trial is resumed today, as Mr. Delmas for the defense will argue against its admission. It was to give the defense time to study precedents and to otherwise prepare for the fight that court adjourned yesterday after a session lasting less than two hours.

The importance brought out by Mr. Jerome in his address yesterday. He told of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw's story on the stand, which she said she told to Thaw in Paris, and the District Attorney said if the jury believe her story they would carry it in determining the question of whether Thaw's reason was unbalanced.

PLEA OF JEROME.
"If, on the other hand," he said, "I am allowed to show that Evelyn Nesbit did not tell Thaw that White had drugged her and attacked her, if I can show the jury that there is grave reason to doubt the story, will not that be a fact which the jury should weigh when they decide for their final decision in determining whether this man was of unsound mind when he killed White?"

Mr. Jerome declared that in this affidavit Evelyn Nesbit Thaw swore that she had never told Thaw in Paris the story about her ravishment by White. Furthermore, she swore that Thaw tried to induce her to sign paper in proceedings to get White in jail, using the story as a basis, that she told him that it was not true and that when he insisted that she sign some papers and she refused, he stripped her and beat her, and she was left with a whip until her skin was lacerated.

IMPORTANCE EVIDENT.
Thus the importance of the legal fight over the affidavit and its bearing on the case, if admitted, can readily be appreciated. There is hardly a doubt that even if the affidavit is admitted the defense will attempt in its turn to discredit Lawyer Hummel.

It will get down to the question, then, who the jury will believe, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw or Lawyer Hummel. After Abraham Hummel had been called to the stand at the opening of the Thaw trial today Mr. Delmas began his argument in reply to District Attorney Jerome as to the admissibility of the evidence Hummel has to offer regarding the affidavit. Evelyn Nesbit is said to have made him in his office.

The district attorney claimed that this evidence, if allowed, would tend to show that Evelyn Nesbit may not have told the defendant the story which is said to have made him insane.

Dr. Allan MacLane Hamilton, the alienist, who was employed by Thaw soon after the tragedy, but who now has become a witness for the State, was in court today along with the other experts for the prosecution. Mr. Jerome may call eight experts in all.

NOT ACTING FOR GIRL.
In beginning his argument Mr. Delmas touched first upon the point of the professional relations existing between Evelyn Nesbit and Mr. Hummel at the time the affidavit was made.

Sketch of Mrs. William Thaw, made while she was giving her testimony.

Hummel denied yesterday that he was acting for the girl, saying he was employed by Stanford White and that no legal action was contemplated in behalf of Miss Nesbit.

"We still contend," said Mr. Delmas, "that this witness was acting in the capacity of attorney to this girl. It is not for him by his word to deny that such a relation existed. However, we will reserve that objection."

Mr. Delmas then turned to the question of the admissibility of evidence contravening the statements of a witness made out of court.

RAP AT JEROME.
Mr. Delmas referred to certain authorities cited by District Attorney Jerome yesterday in support of the admissibility of such testimony and said he was amazed to find that one of the decisions mentioned "states exactly the reverse of what the learned district attorney announced."

"Much of what the district attorney said yesterday," Mr. Delmas declared, "was objectionable, but I allowed him to talk of much that is not in the evidence and that might have been objected to, because I was willing to trust to the fairness of this jury, which is my only protection."

CLAUDE BY CLAUDE.
Mr. Delmas took up the question which Mr. Jerome asked Mr. Hummel and said it was objected to clause by clause, and explained where each one was objectionable. The question called for a reply from Hummel as to what Miss Nesbit told him in his office, as to whether she told him Thaw had drugged and beaten her and that the charges against White to her mind were not true.

Mr. Delmas closed his argument by asking the court to rule out Hummel's testimony as improper and having no bearing on the case.

Mr. Jerome answered Mr. Delmas briefly, claiming that as Mrs. Thaw's statements on the stand and her direct and positive, he must be allowed to counter them.

WHAT JUDGE SAYS.
After the arguments were concluded Justice Fitzgerald said: "The cases cited are not proper authorities on the question under consideration. The objection must be sustained."

This ruling seemed to bar all of Hummel's testimony, but Mr. Jerome proceeded to question him and soon there was a dramatic clash with Mr. Delmas.

"At the interview in your office," asked Mr. Jerome, "did Evelyn Nesbit, prior to your dictating anything, tell you that she told Thaw that White had drugged and betrayed her?"

"Mrs. Delmas was on his feet to object, but before he could do so Hummel said in a loud voice:

"I will refrain from ascribing to him the qualities he so scornfully rejects," said Mr. Delmas.

WAIVES RIGHT.
Mr. Delmas first moved that Jerome's question and Hummel's answer be stricken from the record, and Justice Fitzgerald seemed to about order that done when Mr. Delmas again rose and said:

"Through the extraordinary conduct of the district attorney, this question and answer are in the record. Let them stand. I waive my right."

Mr. Jerome wanted to know if the motion to strike out was withdrawn. The answer is already with the jury; why should it be stricken out? I withdrew the motion," said Mr. Delmas.

"Did Evelyn Nesbit say to you that Thaw had prepared documents charging Stanford White with having drugged and betrayed her when she was in and in possession of her mind?" asked Mr. Jerome.

OBJECTION MADE.
Mr. Delmas objected upon the ground that the question was a repetition of the one already ruled out by the court.

Mr. Jerome read from the record the statement Mrs. Thaw made on cross-examination which he sought to rebut. Mr. Delmas renewed his objection and said it was based largely upon the ground of "manifest misconduct" on the part of the district attorney.

Justice Fitzgerald said that question about the inclusion of portions of the present question.

Mr. Jerome cited additional decisions to uphold his view.

Mr. Jerome declared that the mere fact that Evelyn Nesbit had refused to sign documents for Harry Thaw was not evidence that she had not made the statements to him. He also objected to the question put to Hummel upon the ground that he was asking as Miss Nesbit's attorney. In answer to one of the questions put to him yesterday Hummel said Evelyn had called upon him in his professional capacity. He declared immediately afterward, however, that in drawing up the affidavit he was acting for Mr. White.

Mr. Jerome declared that young Mrs. Thaw herself had waived the right of personal privilege as between herself and Hummel by stating upon the stand her version of the interview with the lawyer.

WHAT SHE TOLD.
"The learned District Attorney knows," interrupted Mr. Delmas, "that Mrs. Thaw was not at that time stating any historical fact, but was testifying merely a story which she had told her husband."

"There is no evidence here," said Mr. Jerome, "that Hummel ever was attorney for Miss Nesbit. On the contrary, we have the oath of the witness that he was acting for Mr. White."

"Do I understand the district attorney to imply," said Mr. Delmas, "that there is anything improper in counsel conferring with witnesses?"

EXPERTS IN COURT.
Justice Fitzgerald was about to order the recess when Jerome interrupted to say that all of the experts engaged by the state were in court today and he would like to have consent to excuse Hummel and postpone hearing Mrs. Thaw until the experts had testified.

Mr. Delmas consented and a recess was ordered until 3 p. m.

When court convened this afternoon Mrs. Thaw was called to the stand.

Mr. Jerome said he intended to qualify each witness as to his ability to answer the question and would then line up the six alienists and read the hypothetical question to all at once.

Mr. Delmas said he was given the question only this morning and had not had time to go into it. He was not prepared to plunge into the cross-examination at this time.

Mr. Jerome said that he would insist that each witness be cross-examined before the next was called.

Mr. Delmas said he would refuse to go into any stipulation whatever in regard to the examination of the witnesses.

Mr. Jerome then said he would have to read the question to each witness separately. First, however, Mr. Jerome said he would read the question asked the experts for the defense by Mr. Delmas and call for an opinion from his client on that question.

Mr. Flint asked his qualifications as an expert who had for twenty-five years made a specialty of mental diseases and had many times testified as an expert.

Mr. Jerome then began to read to the witness the hypothetical question which Mr. Delmas had submitted to his experts.

On this, Dr. Flint said he thought Thaw knew the nature and quality of his act and knew the act was wrong.

At 2:47 o'clock Mr. Garvan began the reading of the prosecution's hypothetical question. Thaw's counsel with copies of the question in their hands, followed the reading closely.

NEW YORK, March 14.—When Mr. Garvan had read one-half of the Thaw hypothetical question at 3:27 p. m. a fifteen minute recess was taken.

WITNESSES TO BE EXCLUDED

Superior Judge Melvin Makes Ruling in the Pembroke Case.

Percy Pembroke's mother and father will not be present at the second trial of the robbery charge against him now on in department five of the Superior court, for this morning Judge Melvin, who is back on the bench in the criminal court, for this morning Judge Melvin, court room.

At the three murder trials and the former trial for the Stanley hold-up Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke sat at the side of the defendant, but in this event it will be allowed. Not until they have testified will the Pembroke family, who will bring in the alleged alibi, which they will undoubtedly introduce as a defense testimony, be allowed to take their positions by the side of the young man.

THOSE EXCLUDED.
By order of Judge Melvin, those excluded from the courtroom are: S. Pembroke and wife, mother and father respectively; H. E. Pembroke and wife, brother and sister-in-law; Arthur Pembroke and wife, who although not present today, will appear in behalf of their relative when the defense introduces the alibi to prove that Percy Pembroke was at his brother Arthur's house in this city on the night of October 8, 1904, when the alleged crime is said to have been committed, and of which the whereabouts is now serving time in the State's prison.

The non-appearance of the women folks in the courtroom has some difference from the usual procedure, when Mrs. Pembroke sits next to her son, accompanied by her husband and elder son, Miss Grace Eaton has not appeared at hand in this trial as she did during the former case, and which incidentally resulted in her being entangled in the Percy case now pending before the Superior court.

FIRST CALLED.
When the trial was called this morning, Deputy District Attorney Hynes made the opening statement, and he told the jury that the facts proved in the prosecution of the case. Conductor John H. Blackson of Fruitvale was the first witness called, and he told the jury that in October, 1904, he saw Edward Stanley, his wife and two children, at the railway station at Fruitvale, with tickets in their hands. Stanley told Blackford that he was going to Blumington, Illinois, where his wife owned a ranch.

District Attorney Brown introduced the returned subpoenas which he sent to Illinois in hopes of locating the witness, but they were returned with the local officers to where they were sent. Stanley was not to be found. Attorney Lin S. Church objected to the returned subpoenas on the ground that they did not show any particular diligence on the part of the prosecution to find Stanley. Judge Melvin permitted them to go down as People's exhibits.

There are some promises of surprises in the coming trial. Just what is in store for the material in evidence is not to be learned at present.

The jury consists of the following: Carl Berlin, Joseph Finley, Frank W. Arnold, H. Anderson, M. H. Keniston, Joaquin J. Lewis, J. Lewis, North, J. J. Edmund Gates, J. J. O'Toole, R. F. Lewis and William Lawrence.

DAVIS INCIDENT IS UP AGAIN

Governor-Admiral Case Discussed in the House of Commons.

LONDON, March 14.—The incident involving Governor Swettenham of Jamaica and Rear Admiral Davis, United States Navy, came up in the House of Commons today in a hypothetical question by Jesse Collins, Liberal Unionist, who was in Kingston at the time of the disaster. Mr. Collins asked if it was in accordance with international law for an admiral of a foreign country to land an armed force in British colonies without the permission of the Governor.

WHAT GRAY SAYS

Foreign Secretary Gray said: "No, and I may add that no such rights were claimed in the incident referred to. What I am convinced of is that while in the presence of such a catastrophe, there naturally was a certain amount of misunderstanding, the American admiral was inspired by single-minded motives and a desire to relieve suffering. Any other construction placed on his action is most unworthy and untrue."

COLLINGS REPLIES.

Mr. Collins asked if the fact did not remain in opposition of the government's policy when armed troops were landed when there was no cause, but the foreign secretary replied.

"According to my information the question conveys a statement which is not borne out by the facts."

The foreign secretary's tribute to Rear Admiral Davis was heartily cheered by the members of the House.

PANIC CONDITIONS ON STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, March 14.—Panic conditions swept over the Stock Exchange this afternoon. Prices ran off without check and the demand had apparently become exhausted.

Reading fell to 88-1/2, pants swept over the exchange, and the market slumped without any manifest point of resistance. Union Pacific was weakest next to Reading, and ran off 14 points before meeting any check. Other prominent stocks fell from 15 to 5 points.

Officials of the clearing house examined the accounts of various banking institutions and reported they found no weak points.

A circulation of rumors of a break in relations between Kuhn, Loeb & Company and J. P. Morgan, although denied, was an influence in the weakness of the market.

Union Pacific was forced down an extreme of 23-1/2 in the late dealings. Amalgamated Copper 18-1/4, Northern Pacific 14, St. Paul 13 and Smelting 13-1/2.

The market closed weak with the trading highly excited and erratic. Call money rose to 36 per cent.

KEEPS VIGIL BY WIFE'S BIER

Husband in North Carolina Watches Casket in Parlor for Many Days.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., March 14.—How overwhelming is the grief of W. C. Gray over the death of his wife, not known until today, when neighbors sought to lend their kindly offices. Although Mrs. Gray died on February 11, it was observed that she still hangs on the door of the villa.

It was developed that the devotion with which the aged husband surrounded his wife was unrelaxed. He continues to maintain vigil beside the casket in the parlor of the saddened home.

The couple came here some time ago, with a son and daughter, from their home in Edgartown, Mass. Mrs. Gray was suffering from pulmonary trouble. They took a villa for the season, and Mr. Gray, who is sixty-five years of age, was determined to save the life of his wife. He was well-nigh crazed by grief when she died.

EXPENSIVE CASKET.

He summoned an undertaker and gave orders that the body be embalmed and placed in the most expensive casket obtainable. The casket, which was in the parlor, and the villa was closed, only the sorrowing son and daughter being granted admittance.

Grief has brought in about that Gray spared the effort to make his wife comfortable. He says they neglected to visit his wife when she was ill, and that their sympathy now comes too late.

Mr. Gray announces his intention of maintaining his vigil until the winter season passes in the North, when he will accompany the casket to the old home in Massachusetts, where it will be laid to rest with the rest of the family.

He is spending the nights in lonely vigil, and leaves during the daytime only to take slight nourishment.

as actually in duration and under the key of the jail as any prisoner in San Quentin. From him has been taken the exercise of liberty—the right of free action on his own desires and initiative. The difference is only in the place and surroundings of his confinement. Instead of a steel cage six by ten feet, with grill work of hard bars, he has a room in the St. Francis, with the comforts of a modern hotel. But here the difference ends.

He is confined to that room under the guard of Elmer Biggy and two deputies. He may not leave it, not even for his meals. Since Monday food has been brought in from the grill of the hotel. None may visit him except his immediate family, his attorneys and such others as the warden may care to admit. He must spend the tedious hours as best he can, without even the excitement and variety of an automobile ride to the court room until next Monday.

LEFT IN ROOM.

Elmer Biggy this morning said under no condition could Ruef be taken from his room except on an order from the court. Yesterday upon such an order he was permitted to visit his mother in company with his guards. What ever instructions would come for his removal to other quarters would emanate from higher up. While at the St. Francis they could continue to occupy room 119, which is secluded in a far corner at the end of the corridor on the East street side.

Ruef was in his usual genial mood—whether real or assumed—this morning, and met the reporter with jokes about his situation.

"I am perfectly comfortable here," he said. "There is nothing left to be desired in the accommodations or the courtesy and consideration shown me by these excellent gentlemen (with a sweep of the hand toward Elmer Biggy and the deputies), who are my companions. Indeed, were I to have made the choice myself I could not have done better in the matter of living quarters. I anticipate no change in the place of confinement, though of course these gentlemen may. But I think I will choose my own residence in a few days, for it is not entirely agreeable to be in custody and proper steps will be taken to free me at once."

Asked how he was spending the tedious hours of imprisonment in a small room, with no prospect of change until Monday, he pointed to some law books, papers and other books on the stand.

"Oh, I am looking up some law points. And then I read the newspapers which I find very diverting and some dime novels," he added, as though associating the two classes of reading matter. But he is a prisoner for all that, and all that the newspapers say of his confinement and the plight in which he finds himself before the law are not the fiction of a dime novel.

SOME SKY-SCRAPER FIGURES.

Of the new buildings in immediate prospect, the largest and most important will be the City Investing Company's great office building, to be erected on Broadway between Corland and Dey and to extend through to Church, taking in the corner of Church and Corland. The exact dimensions are: Ninety-four feet on the Broadway side, 105 on Church, and 215 on Corland. While the distance around the outside walls will be ten feet. Some of the figures connected with the building are remarkable. If the rentable space of the building were laid out flat it would cover three city blocks and the hall and other unusable areas would cover City Hall Park or if each office were 12-1/2 feet wide and all the offices were laid out in a straight line, that line would be 7-2/3 miles long.

The number of bricks used will be enormous and without going beyond the facts it may be said that if every person on Manhattan Island were to take one away as a souvenir there would be at least four or five stories still standing. Each one of 2500 persons would be able to have a window to himself, while if each incandescent light to be installed were to use one brick, the citizens of a town the size of Concord, N. H., there would be a few left over. There are to be 82 great caissons supporting a total weight of 1500 tons, or equal to the weight of the whole population of a town of 40,000 persons. H. H. Kimball will be the architect.—Metropolitan Magazine.

ELOPING GIRL WINS CAPTOR

Is Caught by Detective, But Her Pleas Melt His Heart.

PITTSBURGH, March 14.—Miss Abbie Grace McClellan, aged nineteen, and Frank Greasy Eason, aged twenty-two, both prominent in Charleston, S. C. society, will be married at Steubenville, O., tomorrow. Miss McClellan is the daughter of L. A. McClellan, millionaire founder of McClellanville, S. C.

The young couple met while attending school in Charleston. Miss McClellan being a student at the Memorial Normal School, while Eason was going to the South Carolina Military Academy. A short time ago he secured a position as draughtsman in the Pittsburgh office of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and last Friday attempted to elope from Charleston with his fiancée.

The father of the girl interfered, asserting that she was too young to marry. It was then agreed between the sweethearts that she was to follow Eason here as quickly as possible. Sunday afternoon she slipped away from the school and early this morning arrived at the Union Depot. A telegram from her father resulted in her being placed under arrest as she alighted from the train. Today she had a long talk with Captain of Detectives Egan, with the result that he decided to permit the marriage.

Tomorrow morning Miss McClellan and Eason, accompanied by Detective Willis, will go to the Ohio Grains Green.

SATIRICAL PICTURE IN A CHURCH

There is probably only one church in Britain which contains a satirical picture. It is the little church of South Frenk, in Somersetshire. On three oak panels are carved pictures which were intended to satirize the greed of a certain religious dignitary at Glastonbury. This ecclesiastic is represented in the first picture as a fox dressed in robes and miter and holding a crozier in his right paw. In the second picture the fox has been manacled by a flock of geese, and in the third the birds have revenged themselves on their foe by hanging him from the branch of a tree.

TO FIGHT BLACK HAND A NEW WAY

Judge Tells Good Italians to Go Armed and Kill on Sight.

TITICA, Mar. 14.—City Judge O'Connor has proposed that the good Italians of the city shall be at liberty to slaughter the bad Italians, or the Black Hand variety upon sight, thus legalizing the unwritten law, as it applies to these gentry. On the other hand, any bad Italian found with a weapon will get one hundred days in jail or more.

"Any law abiding, respectable Italian," said he, "known to be such by this court, or bearing proper recommendations from any good citizen of this community, will be granted a license to carry a loaded revolver. In addition to the permit, instructions will be given good Italians to shoot on sight any person who attempts to extort money from them under threat of vengeance from the Black Hand. This order will hold good until the 'Black Hand' element is extinguished from this city."

"Isn't such a course unusual for a judge," he was asked. "It may be unusual, but it is necessary," was the reply. "You cannot fight fire with oil. The conditions demand unusual measures."

His suspicions being aroused by the appearance of several Italians gathered the other day in the court lobby, Judge O'Connor ordered the lobby doors locked and the Italians searched. A revolver was found upon one, and he was sent to jail for one hundred days.

The Constitution and Child Labor.

No person of discriminating mind can read the report of the House Judiciary Committee, Hon. John J. Jenkins chairman, on the Tawney resolution to inquire into the conditions under which children and women are employed throughout the United States without being convinced that Congress has no power under the Federal Constitution to prescribe the hours and conditions of service. It is fundamental, of course, that Congress has no powers save those conferred by the Constitution. The report naturally put an end to the attempt to legislate in Congress against the child labor evil.

Because many children of tender years are compelled to labor long hours for meager pay, to the detriment of their health and opportunities for schooling, many enthusiasts wanted Congress to overturn the Constitution or butt its head against a stone wall in the effort to right the wrong. They were disposed to exclaim, as Horace Greeley did prior to the Civil War, "To hell with the Constitution!" Nevertheless, slavery has been abolished and the Constitution still lives.

The evils of child labor will be rectified without overthrowing the Constitution or Congress making itself ridiculous by passing laws of no force and effect. They are in process of rectification now. Each year sees a betterment of social and industrial conditions, and in every State an agitation is in progress which must ultimately, and that at no distant day, achieve the results aimed at by those urging unconstitutional legislation on Congress. Local public sentiment is exerting itself powerfully to bring the law into a more harmonious relation with righteousness and humanity, and it is best that desirable reforms should work themselves out gradually and naturally in separate political communities than to be forced suddenly and drastically from the outside.

The conditions under which women and children are employed today are infinitely better than they were twenty years ago. They were far better twenty years ago than they were during a prior generation. Manufacturing is young in the Southern States, and the South is just now grappling with a problem that New England began to grapple with half a century ago. Industrial development alone will demand a conservation of infantile energy and a better education for workers. The keen competition of the world forbids that industrial supremacy can be sustained by a stunted and illiterate operative class. Experience will teach even selfish and inhumane employers that skill and efficiency in the higher grades of manufacturing depend upon development of both body and mind. Hence enlightened selfishness must in the end combine with humanitarianism to ameliorate the shocking conditions of child labor in many parts of the country which are arousing protest and indignation.

Our political system provides ample remedies for the abuses of which complaint is made, and public sentiment has only to vitalize local laws to bring about the desired reforms. It is not wise that child labor should be made an issue in national politics. The question will work itself out satisfactorily all the sooner by making it a moral issue in each of the several States, particularly because social, economic, climatic and industrial conditions vary widely in different parts of the country.

The Stock Flurry in New York.

It appears that the slump in prices in the New York stock market is due primarily to a financial stringency in Berlin. For some reason not yet clearly developed there has been a sudden tightening in all the money centers of Germany. As a result large holdings of American railway stocks were thrown on the market in New York and London, causing a considerable break in those particular lines and a general sag in the prices for railway shares. It does not appear that the attitude of the administration or the recent disclosures in the investigation instituted by the Interstate Commerce Commission had much to do with the stock flurry, though causing a natural timidity among speculators. There is no reason to apprehend a panic in Germany, hence there is no ground for excitement in this country. Financial conditions in the United States were never so good before, and the liquidation now going on in the German empire, while causing a temporary inconvenience in New York, will be no detriment to this country. Under pressure of heavy selling we are compelled to buy back at low prices the railway stocks held by European investors, but in the end the United States will be the gainer. This country is no longer financially dependent on Europe.

This jealous cough is from the Los Angeles Herald: "Oakland is getting chummy with its claims of faster growth than Los Angeles. What Oakland needs to puncture her hot air fit is a genuine United States census. Then she will shrink in her own estimation to the size others view her." Oakland invites a free ballot and a fair count, but there would be a loud escape of fetid hot air if the stuffing were knocked out of the Los Angeles school census.

The comments of the San Francisco papers on Japanese in the public schools indicate a stronger desire to make a point against Mayor Schmitz than to stop Japanese immigration. A peaceful adjustment of the dispute providing for the exclusion of Japanese coolies would be altogether unsatisfactory to the esteemed editors across the bay unless it put Schmitz in the hole.

Sacramento has voted $300,000 bonds to erect a new city hall. Oakland contains five times the population of Sacramento, but she has a city hall that would be contemptible in a much smaller place than the capital city.

Assemblyman Johnson complacently voted for the following appropriations: San Quentin prison, $633,650; Folsom prison, $334,000; Folsom hospital, $18,000; Preston school, $138,260; Whittier school, $355,250. Apparently he considered spending $250,000 on a building for the College of Agriculture a waste of money. He thinks it is cheaper and wiser to maintain prisons and reformatories than it is to provide facilities for training the youth of the State in scientific methods of agriculture.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.

Bad Air From Hotland.

It has been reserved for the voracious and recondite Bakersfield Californian to vilify the climate of Berkeley, which the Californian says is far less healthful and agreeable than the climate of Sacramento. We have no desire to draw invidious comparison in regard to Sacramento, as the Sacramentans are peculiarly sensitive on the subject at this time, but it is not amiss to remind the editor of our Bakersfield contemporary that he is throwing stones from a glass house. The climate of Kern county is not so peculiarly salubrious and attractive that an inhabitant of that region can afford to unfavorably criticize the climate in other sections of the State. That the climate on the eastern shore of San Francisco bay is nearly ideal, and certainly without a superior within the confines of the United States, is not a debatable proposition, and a resident of Bakersfield only makes himself ridiculous by attempting to asperse it. Even the readers of the Californian must smile in derision over the foolish remarks of its sapient editor regarding the disagreeable climate and dirty streets of Berkeley. There is not a cleaner town in America than the university city, and when the Californian alleges that its streets are unpaved and filthy it makes mendacity too ridiculous to be offensive.

In regard to his Presidential candidacy, Senator Knox of Pennsylvania says he is only a stalking horse for Senator Crane of Massachusetts. The disclosure is not important. Neither Massachusetts nor Pennsylvania will furnish the candidate of the Republican party for 1908. Illinois is more likely to furnish the man, even if he be in the aged class and a trifle profane.

The Los Angeles Herald says every utterance about State segregation so far has been in its favor. The Herald is wise in not quoting the utterances it speaks of. There is no sentiment worth speaking of north of Tehachapi in favor of dividing California. The idea is merely a distempered fancy produced by tuberculosis and an enlarged gall.

BAD CONDITION OF SAN FRANCISCO STREETS.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: Will THE TRIBUNE kindly grant me space enough to ask the proper authorities of Oakland and San Francisco a few questions relative to the condition of the streets in both places? San Francisco, in the burned district, has reasons enough for the streets in that section being in bad shape, but even then why can't loads of the debris composed of rock, brick, mortar and good solid road making material be dumped into the holes along Market street and make it passable. Take Golden Gate avenue, for example. I tried to drive down that street today, from Fillmore to Market, and I say it is the worst street for blocks and blocks that I ever saw in my life. Oakland can't hold a candle to it for big deep holes and almost within throwing distance material can be found which would fill up every hole in the entire street. Take Oakland. Every few months we see gangs of men out on the streets cleaning and scraping and loading onto wagons and hauling away—what? the very surface of our streets. I saw on Grove street just the other day five men working and shoveling up dirt from the ditches along the street and wagons were hauling it away, and exactly twenty-two feet from where these men were working were holes enough to hold three wagonloads of the very material that was put there in the first place. Why can't that dirt be shoveled right back into the streets where it came from and at very slight expense be rolled down and the street be resurfaced with material which came from those very holes. I examined pile after pile of this dirt. It was almost wholly composed of material which the city uses now to fill up and repair the streets with. Why have these holes in the streets when a little work, coupled with horse sense and a good shovel, will keep our streets in good repair? Why haul the surface of our streets away and dump it in a mud hole? Coming from Missouri I would like information—show me.

Yours respectfully,
Oakland, Cal., March 6, 1907.

WHERE ELLA GOT HER INSPIRATION

The following comparison of the poems that have a world-wide celebrity was made by Colonel John T. Harrington of Colusa, a former Kentuckian, and an admirer of literature in its slightest forms. The Sun gives them with Colonel Harrington's comments:

"We have seen it answered in the query columns of some of the metropolitan newspapers that Ella Wheeler Wilcox is the author of the poem, 'Laugh, and the World Laughs With You.' Is she? In an issue of the Louisville Journal in the year 1862 may be found the first of the following poems. At that time, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, according to her biographer, was seven years old. She was born in the year 1855. In one of her books of collected poems she gives the title, 'Solitude,' to this poem. But most readers know it by the title, 'Laugh, and the World Laughs With You.' There is a remarkable similitude between the two poems. The phraseology is almost identical, the difference being in the mere matter of a word or two. And whenever that occurs, the better form is in Colonel Joyce's version."

SO THE WORLD GOES.

[This poem was written in December, 1862, by Colonel John A. Joyce, at the Galt House, Louisville, Ky., at the request of George D. Prentice.]

Laugh, and the world laughs with you;
Weep, and you weep alone;
For this brave old earth must borrow its mirth,
It has troubles enough of its own.
Sing, and the hills will answer;
Sigh! it is lost on the air;
The echoes bound to a joyful sound,
But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice, and men will seek you;
Grieve, and they turn and go;
They want full measure of all your pleasure,
But they do not want your woe.
Be glad, and your friends are many;
Be sad, and you lose them all;
There are none to decline your nectared wine,
But alone you must drink life's gall.

Feast, and your halls are crowded;
Fast, and the world goes by;
Succeed and give, and it helps you live,
But no man can help you die.
There is room in the halls of pleasure
For a long and lordly train,
But one by one we must all file on
Through the narrow aisles of pain.
—Louisville Courier-Journal.

SOLITUDE.

[By Ella Wheeler Wilcox.]

Laugh, and the world laughs with you;
Weep, and you weep alone,
For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth,
But has troubles enough of its own.
Sing, and the hills will answer;
Sigh, it is lost on the air;
The echoes bound to a joyful sound,
But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice, and men will seek you;
Grieve, and they turn and go;
They want full measure of all your pleasure,
But they do not want your woe.
Be glad and your friends are many;
Be sad, and you lose them all,—
There are none to decline your nectar'd wine,
But alone you must drink life's gall.

Feast, and your halls are crowded,
Fast, and the world goes by,
Succeed and give, and it helps you live,
But no man can help you die.
There is room in the halls of pleasure
For a large and lordly train,
But, one by one we must all file on
Through the narrow aisles of pain.

NUNS BUILD RAILROAD

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., March 14.—Picturesque Nauvoo, formerly the Mormon stronghold in this State, is soon to have an electric railway. The capital is furnished by the sisters of St. Mary's academy of that place and it is planned to build an interurban line from Carthage through Nauvoo to Port Madison, Ia. For years Nauvoo has been hedged about with railroads which were so near that the whistles could be plainly heard, but hitherto the town itself has been without communication by rail. The Santa Fe, several branches of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Wabash, the T. P. & W. and the Rock Island all are within a few miles of Nauvoo, and its citizens have been forced to drive to a railway or cross the Mississippi, which is a dangerous trip in winter.

DEPLETED TOWN.

During the heyday of the Latter Day Saints' occupation Nauvoo had a population of between 15,000 and 20,000. Today only a few hundred people live there, although it is still laid out with the blocks of the once large city intact. The Mormons had to leave hurriedly and possession was then taken by a colony of French. There are now also a number of German families. They are a thrifty lot and are devoted to the Roman Catholic church.

IN HISTORIC OLD NAUVOO

The visitor today, as he enters the town, cannot help but think that he is in some old French town, for as one stands at the top of the hill and looks down toward the river a mile away, standing there in autumn, during the season when the grapes are being picked, he hears the Angelus ring. As the bell sounds, the workers pause in their toil and with bowed heads they listen and pray. The spot can still be found where the Mormons erected their temple in the center of the big bend; it was a mile north, a mile west and a mile south of the river.

SITE OF TEMPLE.

The temple itself was a beautiful and imposing structure of white limestone, but was destroyed when the saints evacuated. It is claimed, however, that it is the intention of the Mormon church to return and rebuild Nauvoo, making it as large as Salt Lake City is today. Whether that is true or not, for several years past there have been pilgrimages to the deserted city by a hundred or more of the followers in the footsteps of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young. With the coming of the railroad it is expected that Nauvoo will awake from its lethargy. Plans are being made to create a big summer resort there and no more beautiful spot exists on the Father of Waters.

ORGANIZE LEAGUE.

A meeting was held at the First Christian Church Tuesday evening for the permanent organization of a Men's League, recently organized at the church, and at which about thirty-five charter members were enrolled. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, committees were selected to form the work outlined for the organization, and the regular meetings are to be held quarterly with a proviso for special meetings when called to transact urgent business. No name for the organization was given, but another meeting will be held the latter part of this month, to decide on one appropriate for this work. The next regular meeting will be on the second Tuesday in April. The following officers were elected: President, H. C. Ingram; vice-president, Joseph Augustus; secretary, Hugh P. Evans; treasurer, Charles E. Lloyd.

BENEFIT DINNER.

Mrs. H. C. Campbell and Mrs. William E. Sharon have issued cards for an elaborate dinner Thursday evening, March 14, at the Home Club. A $10 check enclosed with express a guest's willingness to accept the unique invitation. The proceeds of the evening will be given to the purchasing fund for the girls' clubhouse in this city. Irish music, Irish colors and an Irish menu will make the affair distinctive.

SOCIETY BENEFIT.

The San Francisco Maternity Benefit, to take place in the afternoon of April 2, is to be an important society event. A number of guests will attend from this side of the bay. "Why, to me, dear, of course," was the reply, "over the fence."

WOMAN MAKES RUBBER

FORT DODGE, March 14.—What promises to be a practical solution of the Rubber trust problem has been solved by Miss Belle Newland, a pretty telephone girl of this city, who has been granted a patent in the United States and leading foreign countries on a chemical composition which cannot be told from genuine Para rubber. Miss Newland has been working in secret on her composition for over a year, and at last has perfected it after many vexatious obstacles. Limited means and facilities with which to carry on her work have retarded her progress in perfecting it, but the severest tests have proven her product to be perfected.

IS AN INVENTOR.

Miss Newland is of an inventive turn of mind and every spare moment for several years past has been employed in working on some new invention. All of her ideas have been of the most practical turn, and her ingenuity has been repeatedly demonstrated. A few years ago she perfected a bottle which when the stopper was extracted the bottle was destroyed so far as using it again for practical purposes. In some manner another heard of it and hastily secured a patent in advance and robbed her of her rights to the invention.

GROWING RICH ON PATENT

Since then she has perfected several articles of household use, but none of them compare in practical and commercial value with her latest achievement.

WORKED AT HOME.

"I did not have much of anything to work with at home," she modestly admitted, "and I had to be very patient. I used just the crudest kind of things in getting this rubber like I wanted it. After that I had the composition perfected. I wanted to test its durability, and had to invent my own process for determining this. I was taught a lesson in the loss of my patent bottle and determined that no one should steal the rubber, so I have had to work in secret all of the time. I did not dare to let a manufacturer see my samples for fear some one would get in ahead of me on the patent. Now that I have secured the patent, I have received numerous letters from manufacturers who have seen or heard of it. Among others I was offered $5,000 for a fourth interest in the patent, but I am going to hang on to it for a while at least."

Miss Newland claims that her composition will do anything that can be accomplished with the best Para rubber, and can be manufactured at one-fourth the cost of genuine rubber.

"SUICIDE" COMES HOME SUDDENLY

SALEM, Mass., March 14.—After his friends in Fitchburg had mourned him as dead for more than sixteen years, John W. Linnehan, a well-known business man of Boston, returned recently to prove that he is alive and well. A man was found dead on Salem common May 23, 1893, having shot himself through the head. The body

WEDDING TRUST "BUSTED"

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 14.—All justices of the peace loudly rejoice and cry exultantly, "The attempt to form a wedding trust is busted." For the Legislature rejected a bill introduced by the clergymen of the State giving to them, exclusively, the right to tie the nuptial knot; to make two hearts beat, legally, as one. It seemed, for a time, that the bill would pass. But the justices rallied to defeat it and denounced the clergymen's attempt to corner the marriage market. The justices convinced the sixteen with this argument: "We marry a couple for $2 the infatigable charge $5, $10, any amount the bridegroom will pay. Bar us from marrying, and you will reduce the marriage rate and so, ultimately, depopulate our fair State."

NAN KELLEY IRON MAKER

There is only one woman in the American iron and steel trade—Mrs. Nanette H. Kelley of Ironton, Ohio, says H. N. Casson in Munsey's. She is the sole proprietor and manager of a charcoal furnace that makes about one hundred thousand dollars' worth of iron a year. After the slump of 1893, Mrs. Kelley bought the furnace and 10,000 acres of ore lands for a fifth of its value and for the past eight years she has made it pay handsome dividends. Mrs. Kelley is not a widow. Her husband was a prominent business man and State senator until recently,

IS ALONE IN HER SPHERE

when he retired from active work. Mrs. Kelley is a woman of force and enterprise, who is in business life from choice, not necessity. "Everything she touches turns to gold," says one of her neighbors. Every one in Ironton respects her judgment in financial affairs. She knows her workmen by name, and has never had a strike. And she has never allowed her work as a furnace manager to interfere with her other duties as a wife, a mother and an entertainer. In short, Mrs. Kelley is a highly creditable member of the guild of iron and steel.

BRAVED FLAMES FOR MONEY

CHICAGO, March 14.—In an attempt to save from the flames $5,000, the savings of years, which she had hidden in a bed tick, Mrs. Josephine Bartogio, 112 Gault court, was burned severely on the face and arms Wednesday afternoon when the fire spread through the building in which she lives. The fire started in the basement of the two-story frame house and spread almost at once to the first floor in the rear. Mrs. Bartogio, who is 75 years old, was in another part of the house and made a frantic effort to reach her bed to get the money. She was almost overcome and had been burned severely when found by men of insurance patrol No. 5. "Save my money," she cried as they started to carry her out, and fought to get back into the house.

AGED WOMAN'S GREAT PLUCK

While two of them carried her out others made a hasty search of the bed and found the money in five rolls of $1,000 each. Mrs. Bartogio refused to be taken to a hospital and was carried to the home of a nephew, Frank Brockfort, 97 Larrabee street. The loss to the house and contents was $900, but Mrs. Bartogio said she cares little for that, as her money was saved.

GOES ONE BETTER.

"My work" remarked the bald-headed dentist, "is so plain that my patients often fall asleep in the chair while I am operating."

"Oh, that's nothing," retorted his rival. "My patients nearly all insist on having their photos taken while I am at work, in order to catch the expression of delight on their faces."

Freshman and Sophomore Reel to Ground While Standing "At Rest"

BERKELEY, March 14.—V. Johnson, a freshman, and S. E. Bailey, sophomore, and members of Company I of the Military Department of the University fainted yesterday morning during the drill hour. The company was standing at rest on the roadway in front of South Hall when Johnson pitched forward on his face.

picked him up and carried him into the basement of South Hall under the direction of Captain R. M. Searles. Bailey waited a few minutes later and was taken into South Hall under the direction of Captain Nance, who arrived on the scene soon after having been notified of Johnson's illness. Johnson was later sent to the Student Hospital where he is now under the care of Dr. Sherman. He seems to be recovering. He stated that he had felt ill before starting drill but had determined to go through the work to save the "cut". Bailey was ordered almost immediately to "take over" the army and turned in his arms.

In the meeting of the men it was the opinion of the majority that the name of the class should be changed to the class name with the smoker. Some of the members were in favor of substituting a banquet for the smoker and it was thought this was made but did not carry. Many smokers were made for and against a "smoker" but it was generally agreed that if held it should not be under the class name and the regular meeting adjourned, an order of the men was made to adjourn the whole affair which the meeting closed.

STUDENTS ARE UP IN ARMS

Buy Symphony Tickets and Now May Not Be Able to Use Them.

BERKELEY, March 14.—The university authorities are accused by the editor of the student paper of working a neat "bunco" scheme on the students.

Several weeks ago season tickets for the symphony concerts with reduced rates for students were placed on sale and went rapidly.

Last term the holders of tickets for a symphony concert were excused from gymnasium work on that afternoon and from other university exercises that conflicted with the time set for the concert. Believing that the same concessions would be made this term the students largely purchased season tickets at the special rate.

BLOW SUSTAINED

Now it seems that the university authorities are determined that symphony concerts shall not take the place of gymnasium exercises for several students who exhibited sympathy tickets to the physical culture director and asked for excuses were told that if they failed to appear at the gymnasium on the afternoons of the symphony concerts they would be obliged to repeat the course.

A MILITARY EXIGENCY

Military circles have been convulsed over a case of discipline that recalls the problem of the irresistible force meeting the immovable obstacle. An officer ordered an enlisted man to go to church and the man refused. The officer had no right to give the order, but the enlisted man had no right to refuse. This extraordinary situation has been solved by transferring the enlisted man to another post as a mark of disapproval, and sending the officer to another post on temporary duty.—Philadelphia Record.

There is a large table in one corner of the West Side police station which the police themselves have had to dust off for the last week, says the Kansas City Times. Christmas Day a negro, who was embroiled, was carried into the station and died on the table. It is a part of the negro trusty's duties to dust the table every day. The day after Christmas the sergeant noticed that the table had not been dusted and he called the trusty.

wished to see before he should be sent to a hospital to die.

The association was unable to furnish him the required funds and the old man left the office discouraged. Dr. Wood, a physician who attended the Davis family thirty-five years, saw the report of the circumstances in the local paper and made a search for the old man, but without success, with the intention of furnishing him the funds. It is believed Davis is either sick or has left the city.

Yesterday a goat walked into a territorial parlor in Bocque to have its beard dyed.

DRIVING CLUB WAR

LOS ANGELES—The board of directors of the Los Angeles Driving Club has expelled M. B. Mosher for "conduct unbecoming a gentleman." Mosher is said to have been caustic in criticism of officials of the club. In retaliation Mosher comes to the front with the accusation that the club's races are "fixed."

HUNTINGTON IN IT

FRESNO—The Sierra Nevada Electric Company, headed by H. E. Huntington of Los Angeles and carrying a capital stock of $1,000,000 was incorporated in this city Wednesday afternoon. The company purposes to supply power for lighting and irrigation for the greater portion of the San Joaquin Valley. With Huntington in the project are associated William H. Kerkhoff, A. C. Balch, J. S. Eastwood and Frank H. Short.

LOUISVILLE—The end of the street car strike is believed to be in sight.

SEE MURDERS; LOSE REASON

Russian Soldier and Child go Mad After Witnessing Slaughter.

YELISAVETOPOL, Russia, March 14. An estate in this vicinity was attacked yesterday by robbers, who bound and decapitated the proprietor, five laborers and a woman. Two witnesses of the slaughter, a soldier who hid in a haystack, and a child, lost their reason. The soldier subsequently died in a hospital. The child is now in a hospital. On the occasion of the funeral yesterday of a prominent reactionary who was killed by revolutionists, an attempt was made to start anti-Jewish excesses. Rioters began beating Jews in the streets and sacking the bazaar and Jewish lodgings, but they were stopped by the prompt intervention of the troops. Several Jews were wounded, one of whom died in the hospital. The local radicals have telegraphed complaints to the lower house of parliament and to Premier Stolypin.

ENACT LAWS TO OBTAIN PASSES

Passes are not absolutely extinct, although they are rare birds now—not counting employers' transportation, which is a proper part of the business. But state legislatures are not yet reduced to the alternative of walking or paying fare except where pass giving and pass using have been made criminal. In some states annual or session passes to legislators and state officers have been sent and accepted as usual.

A few roads have been so cautious as to notify these favored classes that while passes will not be volunteered they can be had for the asking, thus relieving the railway managers from the liability of having their feelings hurt by the return of a pass or two with an indignant rebuke of bribery. Another more delicate way of extending the usual courtesy of legislative transportation is to leave it in the hotel boxes, as a press dispatch says is being done at the capital of Missouri, the proof of this change being "the exceptionally large exodus of legislators at the week end." But this evidence is not conclusive.

In one or more of the thirty New England states bills are pending which propose to swap the members' mileage money with the railways in exchange for continuous passes, which will give more rides than the money would buy. If the railways are willing to trade nobody need object. In a few states, Oregon for example, legislators are thinking to save their faces, and their passes, too, by enacting a law to hold up railway companies and compel them to hand over the coveted tickets. This is a good scheme. Why not extend it to purveyors of other things that members of legislatures want, such as board and clothing?

TRIUMPH OF HEREDITY.
The other college boys were hazing the new freshman, who was the son of a clergyman.
"You will be required," they said, as they stood him on a table, "to preach a sermon."
"I'll do it, gentlemen," he answered.
"On condition that you do not interrupt me until I have finished."
"We promise."
"Will you kindly furnish me a text?"
"You will preach a sermon," they said, after consulting together a moment.
"On Cereberus, gentlemen." Great silence.
"That's text enough, sir. Go ahead. You are wasting time."
"All right, Cereberus it is. My hearers, the subject of this discourse naturally divides itself into three heads. As you have been kind enough to promise not to interrupt me I shall occupy your attention only half an hour on each. I remark, firstly, etc."
They stood it patiently for fifteen minutes.
Then they sneaked out, one by one, and the hazing came to an end.

FLOOD AT PITTSBURG

PITTSBURG—The Monongahela, Allegheny and Ohio rivers are rising rapidly. A stage of twenty-six feet has been reached in this city. This stage is six feet above the danger mark and will inundate the lower portions of the city. A bridge collapsed precipitating a tidal wave into the water and drowning three trainmen.

PETALUMA RACES

INJURED BY FROST

BAKERSFIELD—The heavy frost of the last few nights has proved disastrous to many kinds of fruits throughout this end of the valley and such early vegetables as were growing were killed. Almonds, apricots, plums and prunes were the worst sufferers and the peach trees were greatly damaged. Strawberries also suffered heavily.

WEIGHT OF SOUL

COLUMBUS, Ohio—Preparations are being made at the Ohio Penitentiary here to test the theory that the human soul can be weighed. They purpose to use the Oliver faith of Dayton, who murdered his father, mother and brother, for the test.

He will be electrocuted next month and his body will be weighed just before execution and immediately after.

LEHMAN SETS FAST PACE WITH CUE

Interest in the three-cushion tournament now in progress at the Oakland Billiard Parlor grows stronger with each succeeding contest, each seeming better than the others. Last night's game, as predicted, proved of great merit. Lehman set a fast pace and won his game handily, holding the record to date for high average. He has attracted considerable attention by his fine playing and looks like a future star in the billiard world. Score: Lehman, 25; average,  $\frac{7}{8}$ ; Peck, 16; average, 16-50. Scorer, J. F. Cross. Tonight Jones and Brunner or Pe-either this fact or that Nolan feels Gans makes 138 with too much ease during the hot weather that has made Willie issue the statement that his map would not fight in mid-summer. The time of the year apparently made little difference with Gans in his two fights last year in Nevada for in his contest with Kid Herman he made the weight with as much ease as he would have in summer. To the average writer last September it was apparent that Joe was suffering to a much greater extent from the heat than did Nelson. The glare of the sun played havoc with his eyes and at times when he should have been on the road or in his gymnasium he was compelled to stay in his darkened room. Of course Billy kicked about the idea of Gans receiving a bonus or even the long end of the purse; these troubles could easily be patched up but if Nolan is of the opinion that it would better the chances of his fighter to stall off a match for some time until Joe had grown older all the powers of ten Rickards will not change his ideas. With so many contradictory reports coming from the managers it is hard to say just what will eventually come of the Ely fight carnival.

CHICAGO, March 14.—Jockey Tommy Walker has received word that his mother has fallen heir to $700,000 left them by the boy's uncle, General Toupez of the Spanish army. Tommy and his mother will leave for Spain. The boy has been in the employ of Trainer Charles F. Smith at Toronto all winter. Jockey Walker acknowledged that his right name was Toupez.

And during the Stanford Inter-school meet include the name of O. Cleland, the weightlifter. Cleland according to reports will be Munn's greatest rival in this event as he has been the hammer something like 163 lbs. in the absence of Munn from the Academic field day he won that but since that time has been constant improving, with the result that he is expected to come out on top at the meet on the 23d.

Uchik will also send two faststers in the hurdles, Raddick to the high Stock in the low, Raddick has won the distance in 4:35 and will be out to do better in the coming year. Stanford, Stock is a speedy youngster having run the hundred in 0:12 several times, and is showing wonderful ability as a hurdler. He is a freshman and will probably win some of the records in this event he leaves high school. Raddick high hurdles has the unusual of taking a place in every relay was ever entered in.
